Inveready successfully completes its investment cycle in Clerhp, having supported its growth on BME Growth with a return exceeding 3x

Madrid, January 2026

Inveready has successfully completed its investment cycle in Clerhp Estructuras, following the company's buyback of the 5% stake held by Inveready, in a transaction valued at over €4.1 million. The transaction, executed in stages over the past two years, has generated a return exceeding 3x on invested capital for Inveready, confirming the strength of its investment strategy in high-growth listed companies on alternative markets such as BME Growth.

Inveready supported Clerhp from its early stages as a listed company on the alternative market, structuring growth financing through convertible hybrid instruments and actively accompanying the management team in its international expansion, particularly in Latin America. The investment was structured through the firm's Strategic Public Equity strategy — vehicles specialised in supporting listed companies through flexible financing structures — which allowed for the alignment of capital, growth and long-term value creation at a key stage in the company's development.

The divestment takes place in a context of clear operational strength. In its most recent financial year, Clerhp grew its revenues by 38%, reflecting the progress of its international projects and greater revenue visibility. This performance has contributed to improving the company's financial profile and reinforcing market recognition of the genuine traction in its business.

For Inveready, this transaction exemplifies its investment approach: identifying ambitious teams, providing tailored financing structures, and accompanying companies in their consolidation as long-term business projects. Clerhp's evolution highlights the role that alternative markets can play as a lever for scaling companies with international ambition, financial discipline and execution capability.

Beyond the financial return, this transaction reaffirms Inveready's commitment to the listed company ecosystem, where it has supported various companies throughout their growth cycle — such as VozTelecom, SEC Newgate and Netex — accompanying them in the creation of sustained value for all their shareholders, through subsequent takeover bids or, in the case of Clerhp, culminating the divestment through agreed market sales.

Inveready will continue to back this segment of the market, committed to its role as a growth catalyst for companies with strong teams, differentiated projects and long-term ambition.
